

TEACH-THIS.COM

Who is it?

Student Number _____

I absolutely love

and I really enjoy

I'm quite a good

but I'm not very good at

I don't really like and I'm not interested in

I spend a lot of time and I know quite a lot about

I spend too much time

and not enough time

I don't know anything about

I want to learn

I really dislike

So who am I?

TEACH-THIS.COM

Who is it?

In this creative activity, students complete descriptions about their likes, dislikes and interests and then the class has to guess who wrote each description.

Before class, make one copy of the worksheet for each student.

Procedure

Tell the students that they are going to write a description of their likes, dislikes and interests by completing sentences about themselves.

Before giving out the handouts, write a number at the top of each worksheet, e.g. if you have fifteen students, write the numbers 1 to 15.

Distribute the worksheets in a random order and tell the students to keep their paper hidden. Alternatively, have them fold the part of the worksheet with their number on, so no one can see it.

Students work individually and complete the description of their likes, dislikes and interests without writing their name on the paper.

When everyone has finished, collect the worksheets and shuffle them before sticking them up around the classroom.

Then give each student a piece of paper and ask them to write numbers down the side of the paper, e.g. if there are fifteen students, the students write 1 to 15.

Students work individually or in pairs reading the numbered descriptions and deciding which student in the class wrote each one.

Then, they write the student's name next to the number on their paper.

The student or pair who guesses the most correct answers is the winner.