Section 3 — Written Responses

1. Why are you interested in working for our company, and what do you hope to gain from this role?

I am particularly interested in this role because I enjoy working directly with the public and helping to solve problems. I have always admired your company's reputation for excellent customer service in Cardiff, and I would like to be part of a team that maintains such high standards. I hope to gain valuable experience in a fast-paced retail environment and to develop my communication skills further.

2. Describe any relevant skills or experience you have that would make you suitable for this role.

I have over two years of experience in customer-facing roles, during which I developed strong communication and problem-solving skills. One of my key strengths is remaining calm and professional under pressure, which is essential when serving a high volume of customers. I am also confident using point-of-sale systems and handling cash transactions accurately.

3. How do you handle difficult or unhappy customers? Give an example if possible.

When faced with a difficult situation, I always listen carefully to the customer's concerns before offering a solution. For example, in my previous role a customer was unhappy about a delayed delivery, so I apologised sincerely, checked the order status, and offered a discount on their next purchase. I believe that patience and clear communication can resolve most complaints effectively.

What makes this answer good:

- Section 2 choices form one consistent, believable picture (unemployed, immediately available, no driving licence) rather than contradicting each other
- Each Section 3 answer is several full sentences, not single words or fragments
- Specific, concrete example given in Q3 instead of a vague general statement
- Formal register and topic vocabulary from the "useful phrases" list reused naturally
- No contractions anywhere in the written responses
